UNIVERSITÀ DEGLI STUDI DELLA Tuscia

At the center of the ancient region of Tuscia, Viterbo is the northernmost of the Lazio provinces. Located about 100 km from Rome and just over 200 from Florence, the town is placed at the foot of the Cimini mountains, surrounded by the lakes Vico and Bolsena, at short distance from the Tyrrhenian Sea. Its size and location have contributed to preserve the city's typical medieval Italian character, now enriched by modern services. The University of Tuscia was then founded in this context in 1979.
