The University of Tuscia adheres to the national programme "Invest Your Talent in Italy", aimed at young international talents specialised in the fields of Engineering/High Technologies, Design/Architecture, Economics/Management and coming from 17 focus countries (Armenia, Azerbaijan, Brazil, Colombia, Egypt, Ethiopia, Ghana, India, Indonesia, Iran, Kazakhstan, Mexico, Republic of Korea, People's Republic of China, Tunisia, Turkey and Vietnam), who are offered scholarships for Master's and Master's degree courses at over 20 Italian universities. The 'Invest Your Talent in Italy' programme was recently named after the young Giulia Cecchetti, a Biomedical Engineering student and victim of femicide, with the naming being accompanied by the inclusion in the scholarship holders' academic curriculum of a seminar or training module dedicated to promoting gender equality and combating violence against women. The day of 13 May will be dedicated to promoting gender equality and combating violence against women and will be attended by writers and experts who deal with gender equality from different perspectives.
