

Alberto Sturla, Researcher at National Council for Agricultural research and economics, Department of Policies and Bioeconomy.

Alberto Sturla main research interests deal with territorial approaches to organic farming and the socio-institutional arrangements that allow them to rise and thrive. He is mostly interested in exploring their role in fostering local transition according to agro-ecological approach.

Date and Place of Birth: Sestri Levante (GE), 21/07/1976

Work address: CREA PB, C.s Italia 3 1710 Savona (SV)

Email: alberto.sturla@crea.gov.it

Orcid: 0000-0001-5117-5933

WORK EXPERIENCE

2004 - present National Council for agricultural Research and Economics, centre for Policies and Bioeconomy

Researcher

Main research interests:

- Territorial Approaches to organic farming
- Agroecological approach to local development

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

2002 - 2006 Philosophy Doctor

University of Turin, Department of Agricultural, Forest and Food Sciences (DISAFA)

- Multivariate Statistics
- Zoology
- Wildlife management

1995 - 2001 Master Degree in Forestry

University of Florence, School of agricultural sciences

- Forestry
- Agricultural Economics
- Life Sciences

PERSONAL SKILLS

Native language Italian

OTHER LANGUAGES

	UNDERSTANDING		SPEAKING		WRITING
	Listening	Reading	Spoken interaction	Spoken production
English	C1	C1	C1	C1	C1

Computer skills

- good command of Microsoft Office™ tools
- Proficient users of main statistical packages (R; STATA)