

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI DELLA
TUSCIA

DIPARTIMENTO
DI STUDI LINGUISTICO-LETTERARI,
STORICO-FILOSOFICI
E GIURIDICI

APRIL 9TH / S. CARLO, AULA 6

Humans and Machines: Sci-Fi, Ethics, and How China is Writing a Shared Future World

International workshop organized by Victoria Almonte and Maurizio Balistreri.

10.00: Welcoming speech

10:30: Désirée Marianini The Tao of Machines: Ten Chinese Stories of Androids, AI, and Other Possible Futures.

11:00: Francesco Verso Chinese Science Fiction - Decolonizing the Future.

11:30: Anna Di Toro Experimenting with Chinese SC in translation: some experiences with university students.

12:00: Alessandro Cifariello Contemporary Russian literature and China, between cosmism, Soviet science fiction, dystopian novels and post-apocalyptic narratives.

14:30: Alessandra Pezza Chi Ta-wei's Speculative Future: Towards a Post-humanist Queer Ethics.

15:00: Nicola Liberati Love and Grief in the age of AI.

15:30: You Wu Towards an Envisioned Human-Nonhuman Community: The "New Human" Narrative in Wang Jinkang's The Artificial Human.

16:00: Cong Yali Nursing Robot and elder person---perspective on care and emotion under Chinese context.

16:30: Maurizio Balistreri Beyond Earth: Space Travel and Possible Futures.

17.00: Roundtable.

LINK ZOOM.

SCAN ME

For information email to victoria_almonte@unitus.it, maurizio.balistreri@unitus.it or

Aula Confucio Università della Tuscia:

Facebook

Instagram